Otjiwarongo is the economic hub and administrative Capital of the Otjozondjupa Region. There is an area around Otjiwarongo known as Cheetah world. Two famous cheetah sanctuaries are found and are located in this area. Namibia has the largest population of cheetahs which are approximately 3000 in the country. The other attraction is the Waterberg Mountain/Plateau and National Park and some of the very big privately owned game parks are found in this area. Tsumeb in Oshikoto is the gateway to the Etosha National Park and the mining town in the area and in addition is also famous for the semi- precious mineral stones which are found in big numbers as well in the same surroundings. Other highlight is the fascinating and famous two lakes, namely,

Guinas Lake and the more popular Otjikoto Lake are also found some 20kms north of Tsumeb on the B1 Trans-Angola National Highway on the way to Etosha National Park. Lodging in Etosha National Park will be provided for at the Namutoni Rest camp close to von Lindequist entrance Gate at the eastern side of the park. Full game drive will be undertaken through the park with the exit via Galton Gate at the western side of the park. Next area to be visited is the south western part of Damaraland. The iconic and famous Brandberg Massif an Inselberg in the Namib gravel plains, with the highest peak in Namibia known as Koenigsberg which is 2573m above sea level is found in this area. Brandberg is also famous for bushman rock art works of which the white Lady is more famous. Some parts of Damaraland are famous for Desert adapted animals which include, inter alia, but not limited to, Elephants, Rhinos, Lions, Giraffes and others just to mention but few. Other highlights and famous places of attractions are also found in this area, however,
